HELLO, STEAM! TEAM!

Say the names and the colours of these seven engines out loud!

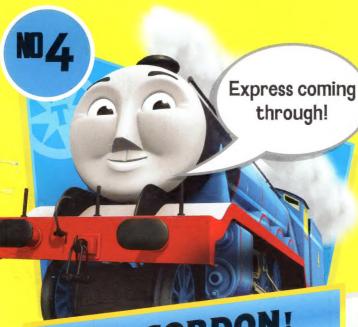

f NOT

MEET THOMAS!

I'm a Really Useful Engine!

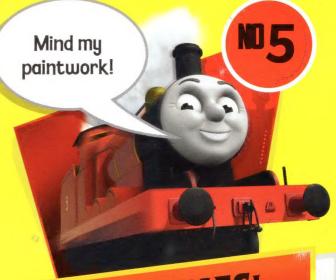

Thomas is kind, fun and brave.

He has lots of adventures all around the world.

MEET GORDON!

Speedy and strong, Gordon loves being the fastest engine on Sodor.

MEET JAMES!

James is a clean and shiny engine. When he gets dirty, he is not happy!

MEET PERCY!

Percy always wants to do his best and is very proud to be Thomas' best friend.

MEET NIA!

Nia is from Kenya. She loves to have fun and is full of Very Useful ideas.

MEET REBECCA!

She might be clumsy and have bumps on the track, but Rebecca is built for speed.

MEET EMILY!

Emily know lots about everything. She loves telling her friends what to do, too!

Toot! Toot! Thomas has presents to deliver to Knapford Station. Use your finger to guide him there stopping to do the challenges along the way.

> First stop to pick up presents. How many can you count?

What colour are these presents?

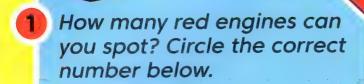

Hello, I'm Rebecca!

SEARCH, SPOT AND COUNT

The engines visit the Steamworks
when they need to be fixed up.
Look at the picture and answer the questions.

1 2 3 4 5

What colour is Kevin the crane?

Red Yellow Green

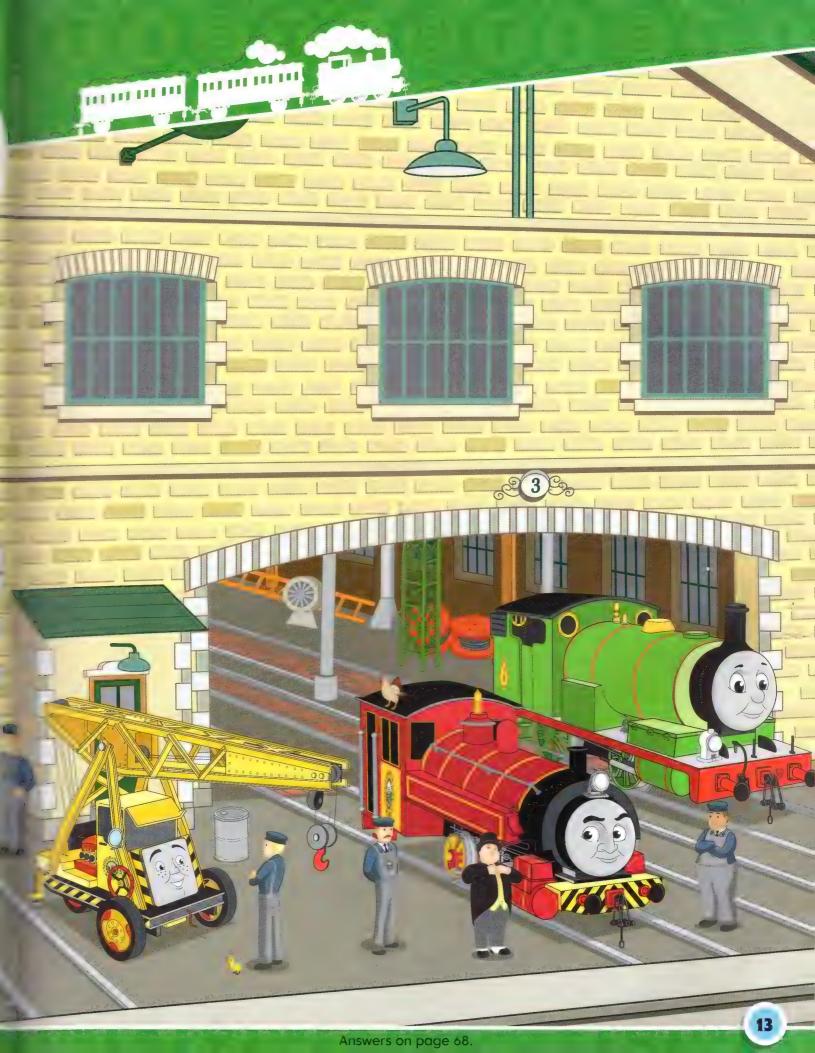

How many of the workers are carrying toolboxes? Circle the correct number below.

1 2 3 4 5

Point to these two things in the picture that don't belong at the Steamworks.

MEASURE WITH JAMES

Are you ready to take James' challenge? Use the ruler on this page or your own and get measuring!

Start by measuring your hand. Place the bottom of your hand at the bottom of the ruler. What number does the top of your longest finger reach?

Now use the ruler to measure some items from around your house like an apple, a pencil and a sock.

Oh no! The baby elephants are lost and need your help. Guide them through the maze to their savannah home.

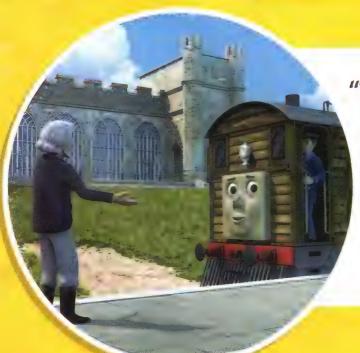

Answer on page 68.

HEART GOLD OF GOLD

It was a sunny day on Sodor. Toby the Tram Engine was steaming happily to Ulfstead Castle.

clickety-clack, clickety-clack.

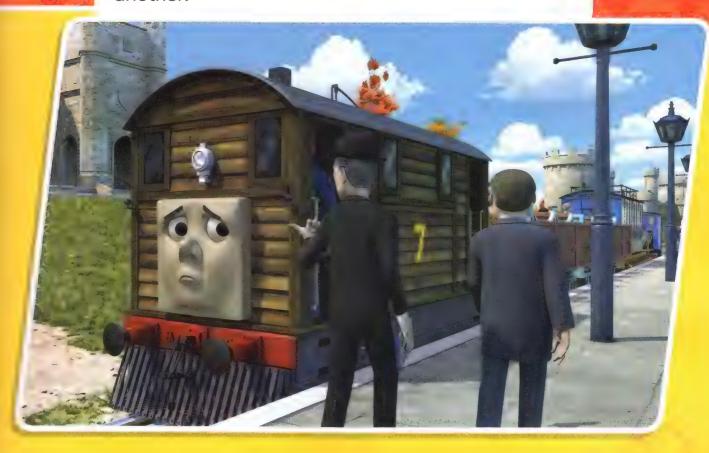

"Today I want you to cover for Stephen," said the Earl.

"Can you take the visitors around the castle?"

Toby felt very proud to have such a useful job. But some of the passengers didn't seem happy to see Toby pull up at the station. "He doesn't even look like an engine," said one passenger.

"He looks like he belongs in a museum," said another.

Two of the passengers only wanted to speak to the Earl.

"When do we get to see King Godred's crown?" asked one of the men.

"You can see the crown later," said the Earl.

"Now, everyone aboard."

Poor Toby. No matter how hard he worked that day, the passengers just didn't seem to like him.

"He's like a shed on wheels!" a passenger giggled.

As Toby nervously tooted his whistle, he couldn't help but feel that maybe he wasn't the right engine for the job.

Later that night, Toby told Millie and Glynn about his terrible day.

"It's what you do here at the castle that matters," said Glynn. "Not what you look like."

Later that night, Toby heard a strange noise.

CREEEEAAAAK!

He crept out of the sheds for a closer look and couldn't believe his eyes.

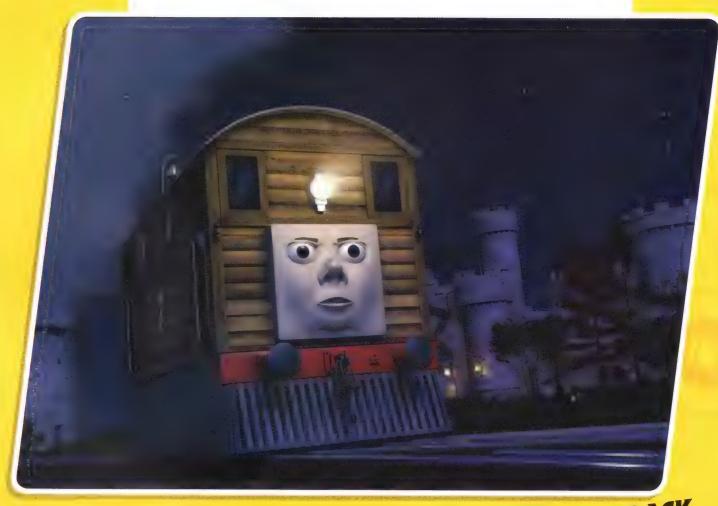

Two of the passengers he had met earlier had stolen the crown from the castle. They were thieves! Quick as a flash, Toby rang his bell to wake everyone up.

DING! DING! DING!

But the thieves were escaping on the old hand cart. As the Earl ran out to see what was going on, the thieves were getting away.

"I'll stop them, sir!" said Toby.

CLICKETY-CLACK

CLICKETY-CLACK

CLICKETY-CLACK

Toby bravely chased the thieves all the way to the Dinosaur Park. He cornered the pair and shone his bright headlamp at them.

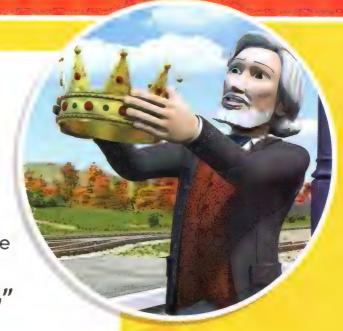

The Earl and his crew soon arrived to grab the thieves. Toby had rescued the crown.

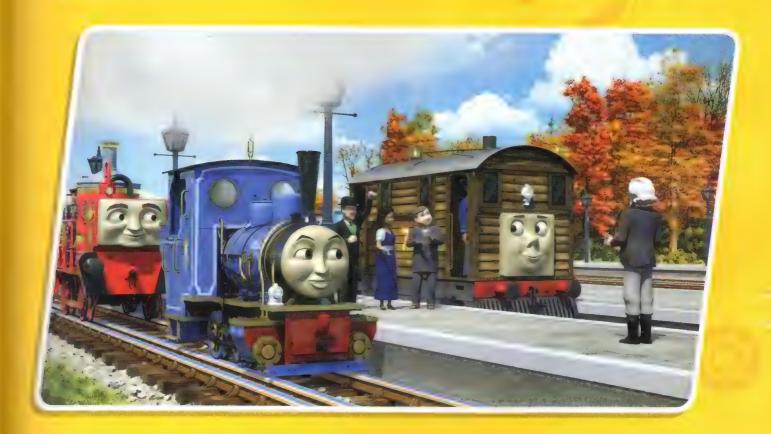

The next morning, a group of passengers were waiting for Toby at the station.

"If it wasn't for Toby, the crown would have been lost," said the Earl.

This time, the passengers didn't tease Toby. They cheered.

"We're sorry for the things we said," said one passenger.

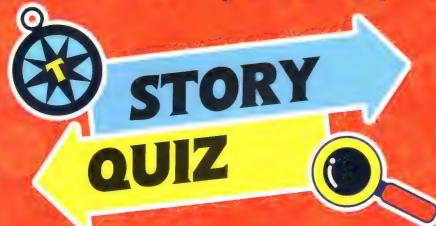

Toby felt like the happiest engine on Sodor. He might not be as big or as shiny as the other engines, but Toby now knew that it's what's inside that counts.

Even sheds on wheels can save the day!

When you have read about Toby's adventures at the castle, let's see about it.

Fun fact: Thomas once saw a giant panda in China.

What a mess! A big storm has blown things all over Sodor. Help Thomas and Kevin clean up by putting a cross through anything that shouldn't be there.

My engine's name is:

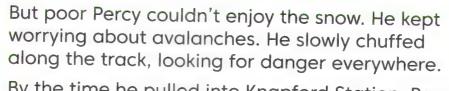

It was a cold, snowy day on Sodor. Percy slid into Tidmouth Sheds.

"The snow is magical," said Nia. "But you have to be careful. I once got stuck in an avalanche in China."

"Ooh, that sounds scary!" said Percy, feeling worried. "Maybe we should just stay in the sheds today ..."

"You'll be fine, Percy," smiled Thomas. "I'll meet you at Knapford.
Just enjoy the snow!"

By the time he pulled into Knapford Station, Percy was feeling more worried than ever.

"Thomas said he'd meet me here," Percy said, looking around. But Thomas was nowhere to be seen.

Percy's mind began to race. What if Thomas was stuck in an avalanche?

In a puff of steam, Percy whooshed out of Knapford Station.

Rebecca got a big shock when she saw Percy.

"Emergency, emergency!" Percy shouted out. "Thomas has had a terrible accident!"

Percy kept imagining that his best friend was in big trouble.

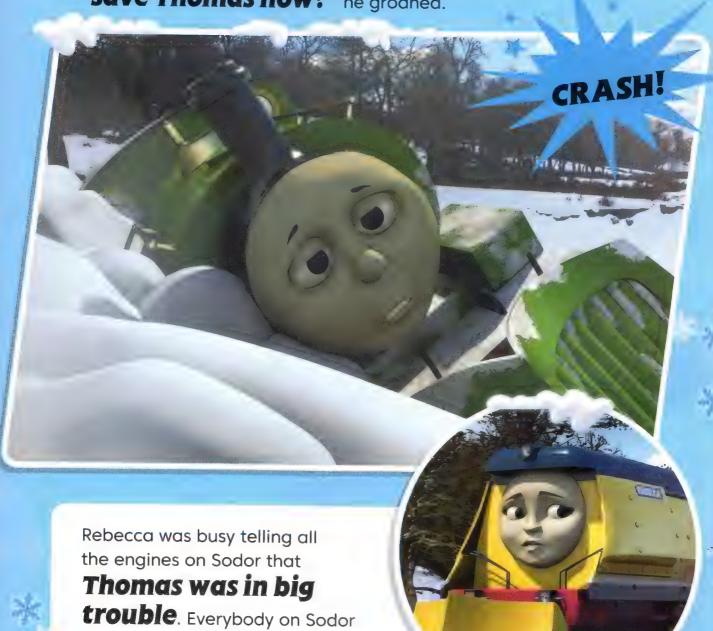

"Thomas is in danger! Help!" Percy called out to anyone who would listen.

Percy was going faster and faster and faster on the icy tracks. Suddenly, there was a loud ### screeeeech!

was out searching for him.

He slid off the icy rails with a crash. "Oh no, how will I save Thomas now?" he groaned.

So, you can imagine Rebecca's surprise when who should she find at Brendam Docks but ...

Thomas! Thomas wasn't in trouble at all. He was just running late!

Meanwhile, Nia had been searching everywhere for Percy. She finally found him shivering in the snow.

"Don't worry about me!" said Percy. "You need to find Thomas. He might be stuck in a ..."

Suddenly Percy heard a familiar Peep! Peep!

"Thomas!" said Percy, in shock. "I thought something terrible had happened."

"Don't worry," smiled Thomas. "We've all worried about something that didn't happen before."

"Oh, I've caused such confusion and delay," Percy said quietly.

Percy promised if he ever had a worry again, there was one thing he wouldn't do – panic!

GRUDGE MATCH

One sunny day in Brazil ...

Thomas and Raul are playing keepy-uppy with a beach ball.

They both want to win!

When the ball goes into the sea, they decide to have a race instead. Whoosh!

Thomas can't help but stop to look at all the wonderful sights.

It's neck and neck at the finish line, but Thomas edges ahead and wins!

Raul is not happy. He challenges Thomas to see who can pull the most trucks. Heave!

But, disaster! Raul's coupling breaks and he shoots over the side of the Docks.
"Help!" says Raul.

Thomas heaves and pulls Raul back to safety. "But you could have won the match!" says Raul.

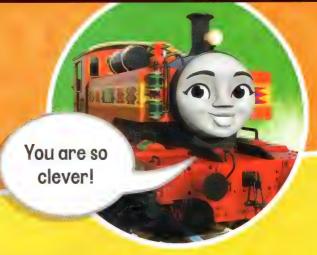

"You were in trouble," said Thomas. "And friends are always more important than winning." Raul agreed, friendship always wins!

LEARN WITH NIA

Use a pencil to trace over these words that are all about Nia.

Now trace over her number and colour in the badge.

EVERYONE'S WELCOME

The Fat
Controller loves inviting new friends to Sodor.
He loves visiting friends in their countries, too!

Can you find the close-ups in the big picture?

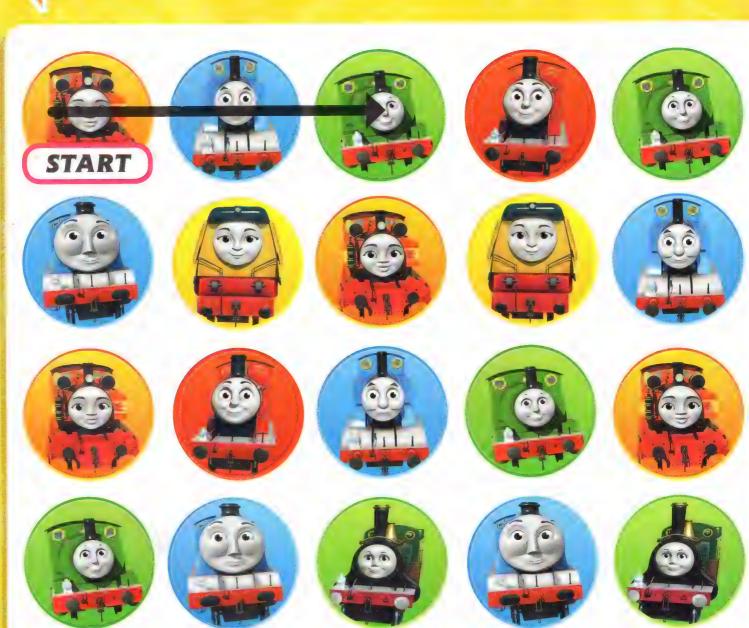

Follow the repeating pattern of Nia, Thomas and Percy to the finish. The pattern may go from side to side or up and down, but not diagonally.
